Unusual Talent Augurs Stellar Band For E. I.

By Stella Pearce

"There is no reason why we can't have the best college band in the state. We have the material and we have the instruments." This statement was made by Mr. Hassberg, the new member of the music department. He will direct both the band and the orchestra this year.

Mr. Hassberg comes to us strongly recommended.

He is a graduate of the Columbia School of Music at Chicago. Last year the Centralia band which he directed won first place in the southern Illinois district contest and third in the state contest.

Through the kindness of a group of the faculty members the band has fourteen new violins, ten new clarinets and ten new bass instruments. These were purchased at a cost of twelve hundred dollars. Ten of the faculty members have signed their names as security on the note. No profit is made by anyone. The instruments may be either bought or rented by the students.

More people are needed who can play either the clarinet, mellophone, or bass viol. Mr. Hassberg will be glad to order new or used instruments for any one at any time.

Mr. Hassberg asks that every student turn to page two and three in "What to do at E. I." and learn every word on both pages because on the sixth of October, the day of the Millikin football game will see the band in action for the first time, and we can help the band and E. I. also if we will do as he asks. More about a big pep meeting will follow.

Mr. Hassberg extends a welcome to parents, members of the faculty, and others interested to visit a band rehearsal. A great deal of interest has been shown, and Mr. Hassberg appreciates it very much.

MANUAL ARTS STUDENTS SECURE POSITIONS

The following men, graduates of the manual arts department, have accepted positions and begun work: D. L. Miller, mechanical drawing, Michigan City, Indiana; Marvin Harrison, Gilman, Illinois; Wayne Cooper, Ferrie, Minnesota; Morris McCord, two year man, Louisville, Kentucky; City Scholz; Cedric Enley, Springfield, Illinois; Mr. Henley has a physical education position but will be given a manual arts position as soon as such an opening occurs; Robert Worsham, Champaign, Illinois; Granville Hampton, Orlando, Florida; John Whitesel, Dayton, Kentucky; Herbert Brown, Cincinnati, Ohio; Ira Mitchell, one year student, rural school, Paris, Illinois; R. E. Smith, rural school, Martinsville, Illinois.

The salaries of these young men range from $1150 to $2000.

Cora V. Turner

Mr. Helmy, the State Supervisor of Construction, made a statement to the effect that the new manual arts building, which is nearing completion, will be ready for occupancy in two months. It is very likely that within the next ten days requisitions will be made for some new equipment for

Freshman Week is Instituted

Within the past few years several of the largest universities and colleges have instituted a plan whereby freshmen may become sufficiently acquainted with the university to make best use of its opportunities. This year Teachers College instituted freshman week.

From the standpoint of a college senior, the plan seemed of real value to the incoming student. The organizations and activities of the college, descriptions of various courses, as well as opportunities for graduates were subjects of talks made by members of the faculty early in the week.

Surely the plan is of benefit to the freshman socially as well as academically.

In the next issue a faculty member will explain freshman orientation from a professional viewpoint.

Mr. Crow was in the Chemistry Department of the University of Colorado, at Boulder Col. He spent the week-ends climbing mountains.—I. B.

FACULTY AND SENIOR COLLEGE ENTERTAIN

By Alita Waltrip

"Old Man Sunshine" and "Little Boy Blue-bird" did come to stay awhile for those who felt disposed to come to the afternoon tea Wednesday.

Those who felt indisposed enough not to come failed to take part in the best thing of its kind that has ever been given on the campus. It was a most successful tea because the senior college students were quite efficient hosts and hostesses—not forgetting their duties as such. All formality was quite willingly put aside so that each freshman might feel the welcome extended him.

The faculty forgot to be so staid and sedate—in fact, they were more congenial than had been expected. They did it so naturally that every one was anxious to meet them. Each one seemed to feel that he would like to know the faculty and senior college students much better.

It was the best attended affair of its kind. (There was an estimate made showing that more than half the students enrolled in the freshman class were present.) The freshmen voiced sincere appreciation of the hospitality offered them. They were glad had come. They enjoyed the programme given for them, and the hosts and hostesses felt repaid for their efforts.

The programme was put on by the Players, and consisted of readings given by Johanna Grant and Aileen Marley, popular musical numbers by Wayne Sanders, Merrill Dunn, and Masked singers—supposedly Jim Shoemaker and Fred Chaney. Mr. Giles represented the Players and gave all introductory speeches in a manner peculiar to himself.

Friendship and informality were in full sway. Let's keep the tide running high throughout this entire school year so that it will be continuous rather than momentary.

Watch for Homecoming plans.

New Members And Equipment Boost Players

You can serve your school paper materially if you will offer to type articles for the News.

If you can use a typewriter, of course you will be generous enough to write your name and telephone number on a slip of paper and deposit in the News box located in the east corridor.

TEACHERS' VACATIONS ARE VARIED

Ione Bertolet

Mr. Lord returned this summer to his old home in Killingsworth, Conn., about which Longfellow wrote in "Birds of Killingsworth". Mr. Lord visited at the Lord homeplace which is 132 years old, and which is the place where his father, he, and his brothers and sisters were born.

Miss Weller spent two weeks in Estes Park, Colorado, and remained at E. I. during the summer term.

Miss Torinus took graduate work at the University of Minnesota the first six weeks.

Miss McKinney spent part of her vacation in Michigan and the remaining time in Charleston.

Miss Booth visited this summer at Old Mission on Madeline Island in Lake Superior. Old Mission is the original site of one of the John Jacob Astor fur-trading posts. While there Miss Booth saw Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, and John Coolidge, when they attended an old birch bark covered church. On the island is also an old burying ground, where the Indians placed food for their tribe-members on their way to the Happy-Hunting grounds.

Miss Carman attended a six weeks summer term at the University of Colorado.

Mr. Koch taught the summer term the first six weeks and remained in Charleston the rest of the summer.

Miss Harris, Miss Johnson, and Coffman traveled in Europe this summer. Their trip included: France, Italy, Belgium, Holland, and England.

Mr. Taylor spent the first six weeks teaching and the remaining vacation at home.

Miss Major was in Chicago and her home, Emporia, Kansas.

Miss Daniels and Miss Stevens motored to White Sulphur Spring, West Virginia, Washington, D. C., Gettysburg, New York City, and up the Hudson River through the Catskill Mountains. Miss Daniels also visited in Appleton Wisconsin, while Miss Stevens was in Detroit.

Keep your notebooks up to date.

The Players, E. I.'s dramatic organization, under the direction of Mr. Giles, is planning big things for the year 1928-29. Three meetings have been held this week and the officers partially selected. Kermit Dehl, '30 is the president for the year, and Thompson Shields, '31, the secretary. Tentative heads and assistants have been appointed for two departments—Miss Lena Terrel, assisted by Miss Opal McCoy to the Stage Design and Construction, and Mr. Mahalon Hillard and Mr. Claud Dunlap to Stage managements. Following is a list of five offices that are open to competition and the persons who are conducting each of these competitions:

Business Manager, Kermit Dehl.

Publicity Manager, Gertrude Moseley.

Electrician, Mr. Giles.

Property Manager, William Shoemaker.

Makeup, Mr. Giles.

These competitions are open to every student at E. I., whether or not he is now a member of the Players. Anyone wishing to be the head of, or an assistant in one of these departments should see the person designated in the above list. The permanent officers will be selected after the first big production which probably will be November 10.

It is the plan of the Players to put on one big production each term. On Homecoming Day a full length play will be given. During the winter term the opera, "King Harold the Cold," written by Mr. Giles and Mr. Koch, will be presented. Professional singers have been engaged for this performance which should be the outstanding one of the year.

The new mechanical equipment and he curtains in the auditorium will be of great benefit.

The front curtain is dark, rich brown velvet, gold trimmed.

The general trouts for membership in the acting department of the Players are open to every E. I. student. These will be held on this Wednesday and Thursday. Anyone interested in the tryouts should consult the cast bulletin board.

Although no definite plan have been formulated, if possible, the Players will be divided into troupes which will put on out-of-town performances.

The aim of the Players this year is the same that it has always been since the dramatic department was organized in 1924—that is to put on worthy performances. The Players will endeavor to give their productions a professional finish.

Large crowds have welcomed the Players at each of its appearances, but not enough of these people have been students of E. I. Be this organization ever so talented and well organized, it must have unlimited support from the student body to be successful. The members of the Players give much time and hard work to this organization and they deserve wholehearted praise and support.

The college enrollment is now 903, a twenty-three per cent increase over last year's enrollment.

ENGAGE IN SOME CAMPUS ACTIVITY

E. I. opened its doors on September 8-10 to the largest student body in years. From the very first day a spirit of friendliness, interest and cooperation has pervaded the campus. The News is delighted with the number of contributed articles that have appeared for the very first issue. This year the staff has been limited in number therefore all major articles will appear signed. This paper is to represent student interests and activities. It is your paper. Feel free at any time to submit anything that you think would interest the student body—editorials, feature articles, original poems, jokes, grievances, and pet peeves. All will be given consideration if you sign your name.

Now is the time to come in contact with the different organizations that will benefit you in so many ways throughout the school year and even after school days have passed. There are enough organizations on the campus that every student can find one to his interest.

The writer has found that there is a general timidity present among all new students. If you took part in any high school activity there is a place here for you.

The Players is an organization open to all who are interested in acting, scene designing, costuming, stage managing, lighting effects, publicity, and business management. The wide scope of this club should attract many students.

The Domafians appeal to students whose major is home economics, fine arts or manual arts. They visit museums, art galleries and exhibitions.

The musical organizations are six in number. The chorus for both men and women is of real value to those who sing part music and who expect to teach in public schools. The Men's Glee Club, Girls' Glee Club, and the Girls' Sextette need no special mention. The orchestra affords special benefit to students who wish to gain practice in group instrumental work.

The band has been discussed in other columns of this paper, but if you play or would like to learn, buy or rent an instrument and you will be assured of many happy hours well spent this winter.

The Mathematics Club is a growing one, and will prove a source of information to any student who is interested in that field of knowledge.

Join some organization now.

THE STUDENT BOARD OF CONTROL

Next Wednesday we have our first class-meetings. Among other things to be taken up will be the election of the class representatives to the Student Board of Control. To call attention to the Board, its functions, and its importance, is the purpose of this article.

First, what is the Student Board of Control? It is composed of sixteen members, four from each class, elected for the year at the first class meeting of the fall term. After the members are chosen, they meet and elect from their number a president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer. The Board holds regular meetings once a week and has special meetings when necessary.

Its function is to cultivate good behavior among the student body. It is a form of self government that has been adopted by the majority of the larger schools. We are a growing institution and need such an organization to enlist the cooperation of the student body in upholding the honor of the college. In addition, students learn, first hand, lessons in good citizenship through practice in self-control and self government.

I believe that the Board holds an important position on the campus. It was a fortunate step when we voted for it. We can progress further by fully supporting it.

If the organization was faulty last year, what were the contributing causes? The reason is self-evident. It was not explained to the three hundred new students. They had heard a little about it from those who, themselves did not understand it, and the result was that they were opposed to something they knew little or nothing about. Naturally, the Board was handicapped. It was criticized as being a failure whereas if it had had the backing of student information it would have gained them student support in establishing a worthy influence.

We are now starting on a new school year. Let's try for once to give the Student Board of Control a chance. Let's demand that someone explain thoroughly in each of the four class meetings next Wednesday just what the Student Board of Control is, its function, and its possibilities. Then, students, as citizens of a community, and as loyal students, and well-wishers of E. I. let's do our very best to promote an institution which will make for a better school society. Take this election seriously! Exercise care and judgment in electing responsible people to the Board. Back them up and give them a chance!

WHAT THE WELL DRESSED COLLEGE MAN WILL WEAR

By Laura Snider

Many radical innovations for college men have been plotted for fall and winter. The gang of tailors who brew the rules for what the well dressed man will wear usually has little effect on college men. The boys have ideas all their own. They do not care to wear wasps waists and grey derbies just because of a fashion hint.

But let us see what the boys predict. Broad shouldered coats are to be the thing. If Steve hasn't broad shoulders, he can get the same effect by stuffing the shoulders of his coat with excelsior, cotton, or goose feathers. The idea is to show that college men are a rugged race.

Balloon trousers have made their exit. Trousers will be wide but not baggy. This means, of course, that suspenders are snapping back into place. A very novel effect is obtained by wearing suspenders, socks and tie to match, and having a 1914 Ford of the same color to complete the ensemble.

Garters will be worn just above the ankle. They will not harmonize with the above mentioned suspenders and socks. Therefore they will be visible. Raccoon coats and rabbit skin ear muffs will be au fait after September 15. Straw hats may still be seen until December 15.

THE FIRST GRADE VISITS THE CHARLESTON POST OFFICE

On Friday morning of last week, thirty first grade children accompanied by Miss Morse made a visit to the post office. They were shown—with friendly courtesy—how incoming and outgoing mail is handled, and how the mail-carriers get letters and parcels ready for rural and city distribution.

Based on this first-hand experience, there will be language, number and reading lessons for a few days. The blackboard in the primary room will probably have such sentences as these on it:

What fun it was to ride on the street car!

I paid 12 cents for 2 rides.

We saw the men working.

We saw the flag flying.

PANDORA'S ADVICE TO

Well, Frosh, how do you feel since your mamma scrubbed your necks and your papa bought you a genuine barber shop haircut to wear to school?

I want you to feel at home and get along well here, so I'll give you a little advice to help you along. I can't give you all the advice you need, for the News has only six pages.

First, I shall discuss your status. After an entire summer of research I have made two great discoveries concerning the average high school graduate. The first is, that he is almost as intelligent as a white rat. The second is that when it comes to tooting one's own horn, the H. S. grad has the average Republican office seeker pushed clear off the roost pole.

You might have been 'The High School Hero' or 'The Most Popular Girl in School' back home but around here until you make it otherwise you are about as important as a pickle wart is to old man Heins.

If you want to be a big noise and attract a lot of attention you will have to do something that is both notorious and meritorious. Boys can do this by winning a berth on the football team; girls by making correct recitation in psychology.

I know it is hard for you to adopt civilized ways of living after years in the backwoods, but you might as well begin now as later. Shoes will probably hurt your poor feet that have been bare all summer, but that won't excuse you from wearing them to classes. Coats and neckties must also be worn. Hats will be parked outside.

Courtesy must be shown toward your superior. Don't address any of your teachers by nicknames that you hear upperclassmen using for them. When you meet an upper classman on the street, get off the walk and stay off till he gets past. Always call him mister and say sir to him. Any breach of these rules of conduct might rate a free hair-cut or a trip to Lake Ahmee-Wahoo.

Girls, avoid fraternity men as you avoid work and rattle snakes. You know one thing often falls into the habit of leading to another. If you let a fraternity brother hang around you might marry him. One thing still leading to another, the same morbid instinct that caused him to join the frat would toss him into a few lodges.

Boys, Feminine Psehrtritude isn't on the curriculum as an accredited subject, so spend the autumnal evenings wrestling with the tasks that your loving professors assign to you. It will probably take all of the first term for you to graduate from English 19 and to find out whether the liver or the brain is the seat of the intellect. Anyway, girls aren't good for anything but athletes. It takes a strong man to handle one of them. A girl will follow an athletic uniform anywhere no matter what's inside of it, so go tell coach Lantz that you are ready to die for Alma Mater.

Faithfully attend all class meetings. It will be worthy your time for a freshman class meeting is the most comical event that ever takes place in the entire town.

Don't make chalk marks on 'our gray walls and towers'. Writing on the walls is a practice that lost its popularity in Belshazer's day and which should have been hammered out of you in the fourth grade.

Remember, Freshmen and Freshwomen, the professors are educated men and women. They have gone to school several years longer than you have. Take their word for anything. If one of them tells you that the world is flat, it is flat. At least it had better be the day that exams come around. Don't think that example ridiculous. One of them once told me that Chaucer was interesting.

Send in all your themes to the News. This command is made in consideration of the propaganda that we put out about the paper being of, by, and for the students. It will simply save you the trouble of throwing your manuscripts in your own waste basket.

The last and most important thing I want to tell you is that all pros aren't absent minded. Some of them have excellent memories for late themes.

Pem. Hall

Hurray! The hall is full this year.

There are ninety-four girls here, twenty six being "old girls". Miss Besteland even turned away some would-be boarders. A lot of the girls came Saturday and Sunday, but the majority arrived on Monday.

It surely is good to be back. Although many of the Freshmen are now lonely we're sure they will soon feel at home and like the Hall as well as we do.

A short house meeting was called Monday evening. Miss Besteland welcomed the new girls and gave them a few simple rules of the Hall. M. R. and D. W.

This year the general library will be open Monday afternoons from 1:30 -5:00 as well as on Monday mornings from 7:30 to 12:30.

WANTED

A business manager for the Warbler to fill the vacancy left by Sam Mitchell who resigned because of other school duties. Anyone who will consider the position please see Miss Julia Thomas.

Charles Foreman, '30 entered school on crutches. While driving a hay rake last week the tongue broke which frightened the team and caused them to drag Foreman several yards. His left hip was painfully but not seriously injured.

GRAB A GUN! FIGHT MILLIKIN!

Grab a front seat folks, and hold on tight. Throw your straw hats away and forget whether the Yanks or the Cards are going to win the world's series. You have a job at home and, believe me, it is some tough assignment. You play Millikin this year in your opening football game which without a doubt will be the hardest game of the season. Millikin always has a good team and this year it is reported that they expect a better team than ever. But wait, people, I have a surprise for you. Bill Stone, last year's captain, is back in the line again this year. "Tuck" Creamer, the man who puts the kick in the team—or anyway, the man who kicks the team—is in the backfield and ready to keep up the punting end of the game. Ruel Hall, is also a backfield man and when there is a hole in the line you can depend on Hall to find it. He certainly knows his football. Pete Fenoglio, the port-sider from Pawnee, is a cleaver quarterback, and his passing is a decided factor in every game. Now I would like to give you the history of each player, but space is limited so I will be brief. We have several good linemen besides the ones who have been mentioned: Rutledge, Gilmore, Ives, Sims, Warren, Conrad, Jones, Gibson, Mattix, and McEwlee. These men have all seen service for E. I. in past seasons. In the backfield we have: Galbreth, Story, Powers, Chaney. These men have also helped E. I. in her various victories and defeats of previous seasons.

It has been impossible for "Ye Writer" to obtain the names of the Freshmen who are out for football, but next week I shall devote my short column to a list of the new members who are seeking glory chasing the elusive pigskin. —B. M.

Class meetings Wednesday.

SCHOOL SONG

For us arose thy walls and towers;
Their beauty, strength, and grace are ours.

The hills and prairies at thy feet
For us in lovely landscape meet.

Refrain:

So must our hearts remember thee,
So may our lives our tribute be;
Strong, true, and beautiful, and brave and free,
So shall our hearts, our hearts remember thee.

For gift of friends, for lasting gain,
For hard-won joys that long remain,
For strength and victory possessed
We thank the school we love the best.

Refrain:

So must our hearts remember thee,
So may our lives our tribute be;
Strong, true, and beautiful, and brave and free,
So shall our hearts, our hearts remember thee.

Across the years thy spirit burns,
Across the land in love it yearns,
Enkindled with the light of truth,
Made perfect in eternal youth.

Refrain:

So must our hearts remember thee,
So may our lives our tribute be;
Strong, true, and beautiful, and brave and free,
So shall our hearts, our hearts remember thee.

Warbler Plans
Are Under Way

The 1928-29 Warbler is the most promising school book that E. I. has had for years. The contracts have been given to the Stanford Engraving Company of Indianapolis, Herald Printing and Stationery Company of Decatur and the Artcraft Studio of Charleston. The division pages, to be in color, are an outstanding feature. The cover is beautiful and quite different. The book is entirely planned and has been budgeted by Mr. Erick of the Stanford Engraving Co. staff, and Miss Julia Thomas, the editor. Much praise is due Miss Thomas who has worked without a business manager.

Advertising campaigns for subscriptions will soon be on. Be ready to subscribe. —I. B.

PRYING POLLY

Question: How did you like your reception at E. I.?

Eugene Shoulders, Lawrenceville—
I think you treated us pretty rough, giving us those English tests. Aside from that, you've been pretty good to us.

Madaline Foley, Villa Grove—I've had a very nice reputation. The girls here are friendly, interesting, and willing to show us around. I haven't been here long enough to know about the class work, but I think I'll like it.

Frances Dollar, Casey—I think we've been much better treated than when we were freshmen in high school. I feel at home here.

Carl Hance, Newmn—Well, one thing I can say is that you're friendly.
I was over at Millikin, but I like this much better. I thought the campus tra was fine—I had two plates.

Eloise S. Thetford—My reception at E. I. has been most gracious and cordial. My pleasant anticipation of Charleston and E. I. have been more than fulfilled.

Students, keep a record of your college expenses. It will prove interesting at the close of the year.

Miss Zea Zinn of the English department is at the University of Wisconsin this year working for her doctor's degree. She is doing part time teaching also. —I. B.

Miss Edith Charlesworth, who attended E. I. last year, was united in marriage with Mr. John Anson Witters on June 5. —I. B.

Coach Beu Needs More Material

More men are needed for the football squad. With only a few of last years veterans as a nucleus, Coach Beu must build up an almost entirely new team. Thus far there are hardly enough men out to form two squads. This is an ideal chance for those who are anxious to make their letters and should be taken advantage of. Do your best for T. C. and go out for football.

WISE OR OTHERWISE

H. S. ANNOUNCEMENTS TO BE MADE ORALLY

Beginning Tuesday morning, all High School announcements are to be given orally from the platform by the students and are not to be written on the bulletin board unless of unusual importance of with the permission of Miss Orcutt. The purpose of this change is to create more interest in announcements. Please make these notices as interesting and snappy as possible.

The high school registration this year is 145. Seventy are registered in the ninth grade.

Keep your ears open for jokes.

OUR COLLEGE

Sum uv these fellas wot are raving about the colleges wair they went tuh skool sertainly gimme a pane. Not wun of these colleges wood stack up against the instituoshun wair my education wuz neglected.

I am speaking uv The Alaskan College of Fine Arts, and the only Arts wiche wuz taught there wuz Afrikan Dominoes, stud poker and shootin' from the hip.

Wen it kum too foot-ball, we wood have maid the rest uv them look like a bunch uv greek dancers. Our foot-ball coach had so much hair on his chest tha faculty made him live in a tree. We used a chunk uv konkreet a foot square fer a ball, an' we kicked it around with our bare feet. The only reason we never played the Big Ten wuz because there ain't room on our feed fer 110 more players.

Us fellas used ter talk theez big bowling balls an' dip 'em in hot glue. Wen they cooled off we put them on sticks an' at them fer taffy apples.

The president uv tha college lived over in the jail fer proteckshun, an' members uv the faculty wuz escorted to an' fro by masheen gun squads.

Tha only tune our band kood play wuz, "How dry I am," an tha leeder used a stick uv dynamite fer a baton.

I repeat, I kum from a regular skool—Thanks to Snowshoe Al.

A New Principal For T. C. High

It is with great disappointment that we learn that Mr. Widger will not be with us this year.

In the year that he was the head of Teachers High he earned the fullest respect and friendship of the student body that has ever been accorded to any principal. Mr. Widger carries with him, to his new position as sec'y to the Faculty Committee on Student English, our best wishes for Student English, our best wishes for Miss Emily Orcutt, who becomes our new faculty head, comes here from Oak Park High School. Miss Orcutt is well known and liked in Charleston for her efficient work as principal of Charleston High School. We heartily welcome Miss Orcutt to her new position and assure her of our fullest co-operation.

EDITORIAL

From this issue of The News we take the following extracts: "The contracts (for the 1928-29 Warbler) have been given to the Stanford Engraving Company of Indianapolis, Herald Printing and Stationery Company of Decatur, and the Artcraft Studio of Charleston. The book is entirely planned and budgeted by Mr. Erick of the Stanford Engraving Co. staff, and Miss Julia Thomas, the editor. Much praise is due Miss Thomas who has worked without a business manager."

Nor has the editor-in-chief paid any attention to the representatives of the high school. In past years the condition has been the same.

Don't you think that we should have something to say about the contracts?

The financial burden allotted to us in the past by the college editors-in-chief has sometimes been very heavy, and the class treasury has had great difficulty in meeting the financial obligations. Perhaps a little co-operation in this respect would avoid bringing about such an embarrassing financial situation.

Contributions are invited from students who think they know something of interest to the high school section. Address your contributions to the High School Editor-in-Chief and drop it in The News box or give it to a staff member.

Do you like the sayings of Snowshoe Al? If you do, we will have them often.

STUDENT BEHAVIOR

One would think that from one to four years of college life would smooth quite a few bumps off the rough diamonds that enter school. But some diamonds apparently never take any polish. Some students have manners that would seem uncouth to a lumberjack or a mess sergeant. Yet the collegians prate of the civilizing influence of higher education. They save all their best behavior for the first time out with new flames and the rest of the time exhibit manners that are totally uncivilized, inhuman, and unappetizing.

One day I dined at a restaurant with a fellow who was a junior at the time, his sister, and another girl. He didn't offer to help the girls with their wraps or to hold their chairs for them. As soon as we were served he placed his face just three inches from the plate and pushed food into his mouth with both knife and fork. He never looked up or said a word until he had bolted all his food.

When he did look up he saw a fellow at the counter eating chicken with his fingers. Thus spake the collegian, "You can sure tell that guy is fresh from the woods."

This example is a very mild one. If George E. Dorsey had seen that fellow eat, he would never have written "Why We Behave Like Human Beings." I also would have a good idea that if the North Central Association's examiner had seen that trick our school wouldn't have received an A rating in spite of the excellency of our faculty and equipment.

Mr. Beu visited University of Chicago classes, and Northern Illinois and Wisconsin.
